

YOUR PROBLEMS

by Ann Landers

'Don't Buy Idea, Everybody Does...'

Dear Ann Landers: Should a married man with two children be allowed to date? When I say "date" I mean purely social — drinks, dinner, and nothing more.

My husband insists that this is acceptable behavior in our society and that everyone except hypocrites, prudes and squares does it openly. He also insists that those who don't do it openly are probably doing it secretly.

My husband says he believes in being completely honest with me and he hopes I won't force him to turn into a sneak. He also says a man appreciates his own wife more after he has been out with other women.

This all sounds reasonable to me when he is saying it, but when I am alone and start thinking about it, it doesn't seem to add up.

I should tell you that I was born in Europe where the ideas of home and family are quite different than in this country. Please advise me. — MRS. B.

Dear Mrs. B.: You sound as if you've just had your brain washed and can't do a thing with it. If you want to go along with this Design For Living it's nobody's business but your own. But please don't buy the idea that everybody does it and it's perfectly all right.

The married man who can't give up dating is like the 55-year-old matron who still wears her sorority pin.

Dear Ann Landers: Am I an unnatural grandmother? If you say yes, then there are a lot of us because many of our friends feel the same way.

My married children think it is my responsibility to sit with their youngsters whenever they have something they'd rather do. I have no objection to helping out in a pinch but it seems as if I am getting pinched four and five times a week.

We have two daughters and a son. I am worn to a frazzle running between their homes (Continued on Page 26)

Event Set Sept. 22

Guild Will Sponsor 'Ice Follies' Evening

Bay Harbor Hospital Guild will begin its fall social season with an evening at the "1964 Ice Follies" on Sunday, Sept. 22. The "Ice Follies" will take place at the Long Beach arena, on Rainbow Pier, in Long Beach.

Mrs. Van Lisman, general chairman of the event, has announced that members and their guests will gather in the parking area at the hospital in Harbor City at 5 p.m. to board chartered buses for the Long Beach arena. The gala ice carnival begins at 6 p.m.

After the show, the buses will return to the hospital where guild members will serve a dessert and coffee.

Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Van Lisman, 1192 W. 18th St., San Pedro and are by reservation only.

Joseph Frey Art Exhibit At Local Bank

Joseph P. Frey, nationally known artist, is exhibiting a number of his paintings at the Security First National Bank, 190th and Anza Ave., in Torrance.

Mr. Frey heads the Desert Art Center in Palm Springs and spends most of the year there painting. He is spending the summer in the South Bay painting seascapes.

The public is invited to view the exhibit during the bank hours.

Chicago Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Guthat of Chicago left last Friday for their home after spending eight days here with Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Meyer, 2610 Ridgeland Ave. During their stay, the visitors enjoyed Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm, Huntington Library and other spots in the Southland, as well as several dinner parties.

Twin Mothers' Swim Party

Summer Benefit Aids Club's Philanthropy

An evening of poolside fun is planned by the South Bay Mothers of Twins Club who will hold a swim party at the Adli Swim School in Walteria on Aug. 17. The three pools of the swim school will be enjoyed by the hundred expected members, husbands and guests, along with an outdoor barbecue, poolside dancing, volleyball and ping pong games.

A highlight of the evening will be the awarding of backyard type sports equipment, announces chairman Mrs. Richard Cassell of Redondo Beach.

Proceeds from the swim party will help support the three philanthropic projects maintained by the club during the year. This year the Mothers of Twins have elected to help the pediatrics ward of the Harbor General Hospital as their main philanthropic project instead of adopting a needy family as they have done in years past.

Sally Mason Is Now Mrs. D. R. Heiserman

Chancel of the First Methodist Church was decorated with white trumpet baskets filled with white gladioli, stock and crrysanthemums against standards holding tall white candles for the late afternoon wedding ceremony Sunday uniting Miss Sally Mason and Daniel Ray Heiserman of Garden Grove.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Mason, 1525-D Marcelina Ave., and the late Mr. Mason.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Heiserman, 1601 Cameron Dr., Lemon Grove.

As the 300 wedding guests assembled, Harold Hutchinson, organist, played a medley of nuptial music and accompanied Donald Shelby who sang Grieg's "Ich Liebe Diech" and "The Lord's Prayer." Miss Leanna Rauen Zahn was reader.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Clark Elliott of Covina. She wore a traditional gown of white organza over candlelight peau de soie. The full length skirt fell into a chapel train appliqued with lace. The illusion veil cascaded from a pearl coronet and the bride carried a white Bible and a bouquet of phalaenopsis and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Betty Lou Broatch was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. George Mayer, Misses Kathleen Taylor and Stella Maie. All wore ice green satin dresses fashioned with the bell skirts and green organza jackets. Each attendant carried a white lace fan to which was attached a bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations. Miss Regan Wilton, in ice green organza, was flower girl. Candles were lighted by Gary Heiserman and Jeff Elliott.
